SLC Phase End Compliance Review

1.0 Introduction

The Solution Life Cycle (SLC) Phase End Compliance Review Process Guide is intended for SLC Coaches (or their Designees) who are responsible for carrying out a series of Compliance Checks with Projects with which they work. The Compliance Checks are one component of the General SLC Process Measurement Activities defined in the SLC Process Measurement Compliance Process Guide.

At the end of each phase of the SLC, SLC Coaches (or their designees) will conduct and SLC Phase End Review with the Project. These reviews allow FSA to validate the compliance of Projects with the SLC.

2.0 SLC Phase End Compliance Review for Projects

2.1 Purpose

The Purpose of this Project-based SLC Phase End Review Process Guide is to describe the steps, responsibilities, tools and outcomes involved in the actual holding of the Compliance Reviews of SLC activities.

2.2 Process Definition

This process defines the sequence of actions to be taken in order to facilitate the SLC Phase End Review Session. It begins with the establishment of the project's understanding of the need to hold SLC Phase End Review Sessions at the conclusion of each SLC phase through which they progress.

It is expected that the SLC Coach or their designee will use resources at their disposal (the SLC Coach's Toolkit etc.) to provide assistance (including available templates and guidance) to projects so that they may strive for compliance with SLC standards.

Upon determination of Project's level of compliance, SLC coaches issue ratings of the projects so that corrective actions can be taken if necessary.

2.3 Benefits

Benefits of following this process include:

- Obtaining project buy-in for the on-going SLC coaching activities
- Standardizing the procedures for planning, conducting and following-up on an SLC Phase End Review
- Minimizing the amount of time necessary to conduct an efficient Phase End Review
- Using a standard format for the evaluation of project compliance to the SLC

SLC Phase End Compliance Review

2.4 Phase End Compliance Review Process

Reviews takes place at the end of each SLC Phase. The Phase End Compliance Review is facilitated by the SLC Coach (or their designee).
